

Certified Green Business featured in Our State!

Mrs. Picky Fanicky's Foods is a small, family-owned business in rural Harnett County. They make delicious chutney, BBQ sauce and marmalades from recipes handed down through the family, which have won numerous Blue Ribbons and Best of Show ribbons. Choose from several yummy "MmmMarmalades" including the Zesty Peach Cocktail or the NC Apple Pie MmmMarmalade, recently featured as one of the "100 Foods You Must Eat in NC's 100 Counties" in the July 2010 issue of Our State Magazine. Mrs. Picky's

MmmMarmalades are delicious on biscuits and can be used in your favorite baking recipes such as cakes and bread puddings. As Mrs. Picky says, "To be sure...that is good eatin'."

Good eatin' isn't the only thing that is important to Mrs. Picky Fanicky's Foods. Sustainability has always been a way of life for owner, Jody Currin. She grew up doing the majority of the responsible things that in today's society are considered green and "cool." Back then, using vinegar and water to wash windows and using cloth towels instead of paper towels was economical and allowed people to take care of their families. Today, what Ms. Currin learned growing up has helped her to achieve her Sustainable Sandhills Green Business Certification. Congratulations!!

You can find Mrs. Picky Fanicky marmalades at Carlie C's IGA across our region or at various other events, markets and locations. Learn more at www.mrspicky.com.

About the Green Business Program:
